CONTENTS

Seeking "the Fruit of favour": The Dedicatory Sonnets of Henry Lok's Ecclesiastes 1
JAMES DOELMANN

Hamlet, Hales v. Petit, and the Hysteresis of Action 17
LUKE WILSON

"Plainly Partial": The Liberal Areopagitica 57
WILLIAM KOLBRENER

Enlightenment Canon Wars: Anglo-French Views of Literary Greatness 79
HOWARD D. WEINBROT

Writing Under Constraint: Swift's "Apology" for A Tale of a Tub 101
JUDITH C. MUELLER

Finding Mr. Boswell: Rhetorical Authority and National Identity in Johnson's A Journey to the Western Islands of Scotland 117
MARTIN WECHSELBLATT

Impositions of Form: Romantic Antitheatricalism and the Case Against Particular Women 149
JULIE CARLSON

Writing Nationalist History: England, the Conversion of the Jews, and Ivanhoe 181
MICHAEL RAGUSSIS

Manual Conduct in Great Expectations 217
WILLIAM A. COHEN

Elegy and Personae in Ezra Pound's Cathay 261
MING XIE

Radical Donne: "Satire III" 283
RICHARD STRIER

Printing the Mind: The Economics of Authorship in Areopagitica 323
SANDRA SHERMAN

Holy Hatred: Formations of the Gendered Subject in English Apocalyptic Writing, 1625–1651 349
MEGAN MATCHINSKE

The Balance of Power in Marvell's "Horatian Ode" 379
THOMAS M. GREENE

Thomas Shadwell's The Volunteers and the Rhetoric of Honor and Patriotism 397
CHRISTOPHER J. WHEATLEY

Writing Home: Evelina, the Epistolary Novel and the Paradox of Property 419
IRENE TUCKER

The Marriage of Heaven and Hell: Blake's Myth of Satan and its Cultural Matrix 441
PETER A. SCHOCK

Publishing Intimacy in Leaves of Grass 471
TERRY MULCAIRE

On "Seeing" Salome 503
BRAD BUCKNELL

Wyndham Lewis: Fascism, Modernism, and the Politics of Homosexuality 527
ANDREW HEWITT

Longinus, The Dialectic, and the Practice of Mastery 545
JONATHAN LAMB

Whose God's on First? Special Providence in the Plays of Christopher Marlowe 569
DENA GOLDBERG

Pleasure and Danger: Measuring Female Sexuality in Measure for Measure 589
MARIO DIGANGI

The Interested Heart and the Absent Mind: Samuel Johnson and Thomas Otway's The Orphan 611
JESSICA MUNNS

Rereading Shelley 625
GARY FARNELL

Wordsworth, Revision, and Personal Identity 651
ZACHARY LEADER

National Character, Nationalist Plots: National Tale and Historical Novel in the Age of Waverley, 1806–1830 685
KATIE TRUMPENER

"Safely to Their Own Borders": Proto-Zionism, Feminism, and Nationalism in Daniel Deronda 733
SUSAN MEYER

Stephen Crane's "Maggie" and the Modern Soul 759
KEITH GANDAL

The Novel, the Play, and the Book: Between the Acts and the Tragicomedy of History 787
DAVID MCWHIRTER

Chaucer's Legend of Lucrece and the Critique of Ideology in Fourteenth-Century England 813
ANDREW GALLOWAY

Base Trade: Theater as Prostitution 833
JOSEPH LENZ

Coming Out in Shakespeare's The Two Gentlemen of Verona 857
J. L. SIMMONS

The Triumphes of Golde: Economic Authority in the Jacobean Lord Mayor's Show 879
SERGEI LOBANOV-ROSTOVSKY

"Not I, But Christ": Allegory and the Puritan Self 899
THOMAS H. LUXON

Of Caleb's Guilt and Godwin's Truth: Ideology and Ethics in Caleb Williams 939
GARY HANDWERK

Chiasmus and the Making of Literary Tradition: The Case of Wordsworth and "The Days of Dryden and Pope" 961
SANFORD BUDICK

Browning's Pygmalion and the Revenge of Galatea 989
CATHERINE MAXWELL

Pound, BLAST, and Syndicalism 1015
DAVID KADLEC

Bourdieu and the Sociology of Aesthetics 1033
JONATHAN LOESBERG